The barn in this photo was built in 1911 and was the largest barn in Columbia County at the time. Shaun Lapacek's parents bought the property in 1987, called it Rock N Wool Acres, and raised sheep. Currently Shaun has a winery on the property—Rock N Wool Winery.

When planning the barn quilt, the Lapaceks needed a quilt large enough not to be daunted by the size of the barn and to be seen from the road. It was placed on the west side of the barn to help protect it from wind, moisture, and hail damage.
