Owners Robert and James Baerwolf, along with their families, built this creamery in 2008. Robert and James purchased the land from their father, Edwin Baerwolf.

The creamery's architecture was designed to resemble the structure of a barn.

At the Sassy Cow Creamery, the owners bottle their own milk and make ice cream and cheese using only their own milk.