The farm has been in the family since 1942, when it was bought by Reinhold Seemann Sr. The barn was built in 1948 to house dairy and is currently used for storage. The building is constructed with wood and called a round roof barn, and was built by someone of German descent.

The design of the quilt – Mariner's Compass – was inspired by two things: a) the German name "Seemann" means water people and b) living at a four-corner crossroads, the family has always been helping people find the right direction.
